HIGHEST WAGE AND SHORTEST HOURS POSSIBLE IS DEMAND OF LEWIS FOR COAL MINERS

Operators Are Caught By Surprise at Opening Session
Of Bituminous Wage Conference To Negotiate Peacetime Scale

NINE GENERALIZED STIPULATIONS LAID DOWN

Washington, March 13—(P)—John L. Lewis, demanding that bituminous coal operators create a health and welfare fund for coal miners, disclosed today results of a union survey of the miner's position under present workmen's compensation laws.

The statistics and conclusions reached in the survey were presented to the national bituminous wage conference of operators and the United Mine Workers by Harrison Combs, a member of the UMW legal staff.

The demand for a health and welfare fund was presented to the operators yesterday by UMW President Lewis, along with eight other proposals for the 400,000 miners which he asked the operators to bargain out before April 1.

Lewis introduced Combs to the conference and indicated he would follow with additional union representatives to present his case for increased pay with a shorter work week, and improved protection against injuries.

Firm, but far from his usual dramatic self, Lewis caught operators by surprise at yesterday's opening session of the bituminous coal wage conference, at which the industry had expected to hear a concrete pay boost proposal.

Instead, Lewis laid down nine generalized demands, in which he said the United Mine Workers want a peace time contract adjusting a variety of problems, including "an increase of wages and reduction of daily and weekly working hours x x x."

A UMW spokesman said the union's bargaining committee will meet industry negotiators with instructions to base the wage issue on shorter hours and job classification differentials—"and bargain the best increase they can get."

Actual negotiations may not get underway until next week. Another session of the wage conference was set for today, but it was to be devoted to union arguments in support of the general demands.

Later in the week the operators will reply formally to Lewis, and the sessions then may be recessed until Monday.

Other major demands in the one-paragraph proposal Lewis handed the industry include:

1. A health and welfare fund for mine workers.
2. "Adjustment of the controversy" regarding unionization of supervisory, technical and clerical employees—an issue which may end up in the supreme court.
3. Adjustment of vacation, severance and holiday pay.

On none of the points was Lewis specific. All, he said, were "submitted constructively and in good faith" as "negotiable suggestions."

On several of the points, such open-ended proposals have been made by the UMW in local negotiations, but never before have such general terms been submitted on an industry-wide basis.

Lewis, who has cleared the way for a nation-wide coal strike April 1 if a walkout is necessary to enforce his demands, told the wage conference that "during the last year we haven't been happy" under the existing contract.

He added, however, that the UMW did not strike because of the grave effect a work stoppage would have had on fuel supplies. Now, Lewis continued, the coal miners are demanding the fair treatment they deserve.

Indicating the possible trend of the union's bargaining, Lewis asserted that a reduction of working hours would eliminate overtime, effect a "vast saving" in labor costs and provide one source of revenue for higher wages.

Further, Lewis declared that it would be "sound business" for the industry to halt a growing movement of workers away from the mines to other types of employment. A similar trend has produced serious results in England, he observed, as a result of what he termed "stupid management" and "barbaric treatment" of British miners.

American miners are "tired and exhausted" as a result of the wartime 54-hour work week, the UMW (Turn to Page Eleven)

Another management source, asking not to be quoted by name, said the negotiations now in progress contemplated a definite settlement of the entire dispute and "not just another deal." He did not elaborate.

At 11:30 a. m. the management-union conference was still in session. At that hour the negotiators had been in almost constant session for more than 14 hours on top of a three and one-half hour meeting Tuesday afternoon. (Turn to Page Eleven)

Rural Stores Are Official Depositories For R. C. Funds

Warren County's Red Cross Campaign for $26,000 is meeting with fair response to date as returns at Red Cross Headquarters show that many persons are quick to respond to the appeal for funds.

In order that persons throughout the county may receive their membership cards at the time they make their subscription a plan has been devised whereby a number of stores have been appointed as official depositories for Red Cross Funds. Residents living in the vicinity of these locations may pay their pledge, receive their membership card and have the knowledge that monies thus turned in will be checked, credited to the proper individual and turned over to Red Cross Headquarters. It is hoped that persons who do not care to mail cash contributions, though it is perfectly safe to do so, will make use of this plan and do so promptly.

Following is a list of places which have been officially designated to receive Red Cross contributions:

Clarence Akeley Grocery, Russell. Van Orsdale & Wilsie, Russell. L. J. Hale, Akeley. Ludwig & Preston, Lander. T. M. Abbott & Son, Sugar Grove.

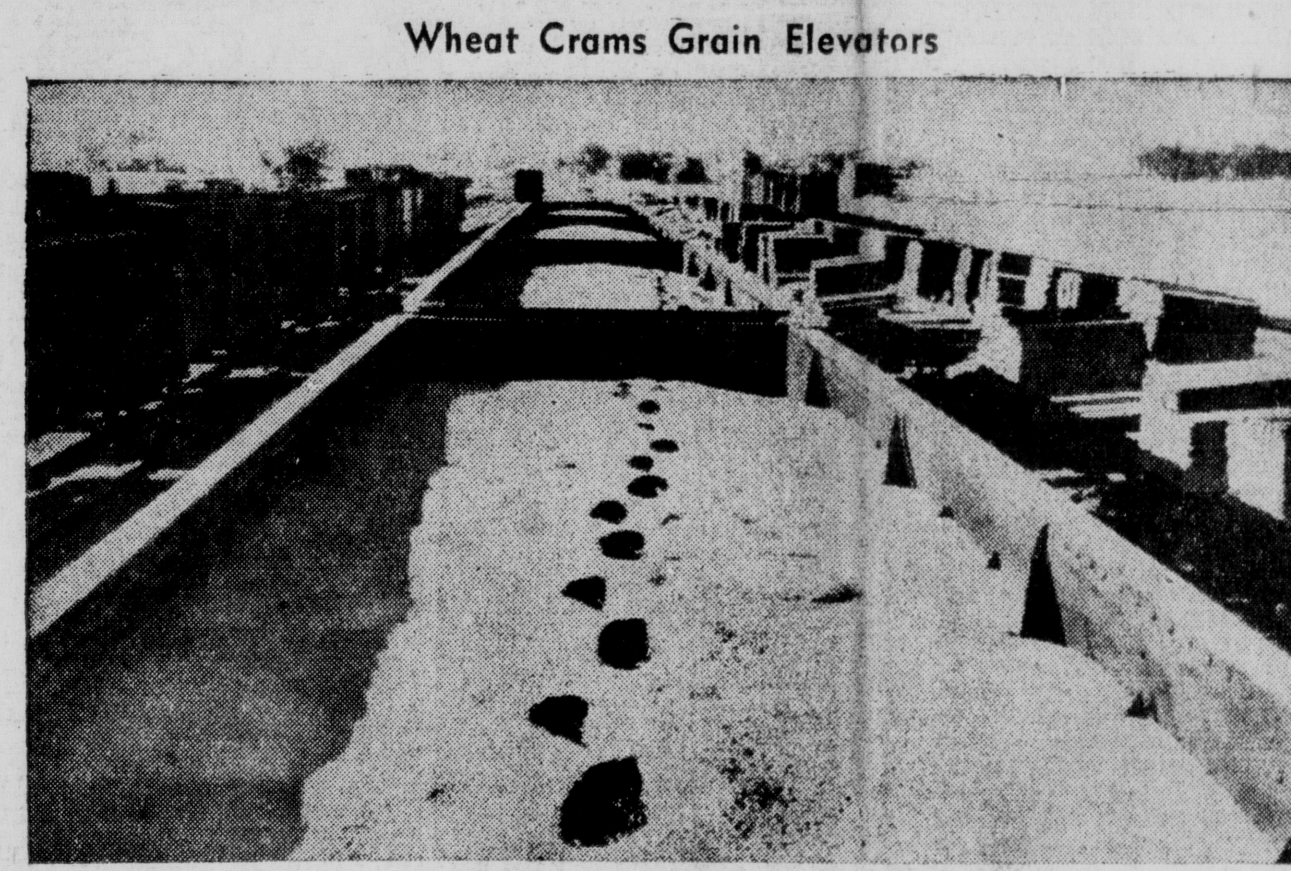

Gorley's, Sugar Grove. W. N. Newhouse, Bear Lake. Dilsen Grocery, Lottsville. Red & White Store, Columbus. Gordon's, Columbus.

Thousands of bushels of wheat, shipped in from out-of-state elevators, remain in cars at Omaha, Neb., while grain belt elevators there are so full they can't take any more. Grain carloads moved in January were close to the all-time high of January, 1944. Meanwhile, President Truman's emergency committee asks the U. S. to eat less wheat so grain may be sent to millions in foreign countries facing starvation.

Italy Seeks To Be Admitted To World Bank

Savannah, Ga., March 13—(P)—Italy has asked admission to the World Bank and Monetary Fund, it was learned today, and the United States plans to support her bid for early entry.

Fred M. Vinson, chairman of the board of governors of the International Monetary Conference on Wilmington Island, informed the membership committee of the Italian request yesterday, a U. S. delegate revealed.

The secretary of the treasury, however, did not make clear whether the application was a formal or informal one, this delegate said. No peace treaty has been signed with Italy.

Vinson himself declined to discuss the matter, referring questions to members of the State Department group attending the 35-nation monetary conference here.

A majority of the United States group favors opening the doors to Italy, the other delegate told a reporter, on the theory that her economic plight is so grave that

Dairymen Are Heard In Plan To Hike Prices

Pittsburgh, March 13—(P)—The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission's recommendations to the OPA for a state-wide retail milk price increase was fortified today by assertions of western Pennsylvania dairymen that they must have more money for their milk to prevent "liquidating their herds."

The commission recessed its hearing, held here yesterday, until May 14, after an informal discussion of OPA controls over the industry.

The commission previously recommended to the OPA a 17-cent-a-quart retail milk price for Pennsylvania, compared with a maximum price of 15½ cents prevailing in the Pittsburgh area.

Edgar Honsaker, Fayette county producer and dealer, declared the plight of dealers is desperate and that they must be given aid "in order for the producer to be prosperous." He asserted both producers and distributors "are caught in a serious squeeze between OPA prices and high operating costs."

George A. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association, said many dairy farmers could increase production with the same size herd if prices were raised substantially. He said farmers couldn't incur expenses necessary to boosting production at the present prices.

One of the outstanding developments under way in the county at the present time is the building of a new boys' and girls' summer camp at the head of Patchen Hollow, in Sugar Grove township. The project is being installed by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Alexander, of New York City, and will encompass a lake of considerable acreage, cabins, administration building, etc., with a capacity of 140 children from three to 15 years of age during summer periods.

The site is beautiful, being located almost across the highway from the Lawson farm, well known over the county. On Dalrymple Hill Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have purchased 200 acres of farm land, much of which is in a beautiful wooded area. The site was selected by the New York people after an inspection trip to points in Erie county and other places in this section. The spot chosen is ideal for the purpose desired.

Grading for the dam which will form a lake 350 feet in width and 1200 feet in length is just about completed and a week's work will see it finished. The dam is graded so that two sides of the artificial lake will remain untouched and the trees and shrubbery will add to its beauty. William Duff has been at work on the project for some weeks past with shovels and bulldozers. The lake will have an average depth of 12 feet and will be ideal for bathing and boating.

The Gamble Construction Company will erect the buildings on the property. The farm house has been remodeled and made modern for use of the caretaker of the camp and several small unsightly out buildings are being razed. In addition a handsome administration building 40x64 feet will be erected. This will house the office, quarters for the help on the various phases of the camp life, the kitchen and dining room. Showers will also be found in this building.

Ten cabins with a capacity of 14 persons each will be built and all will be finely furnished and fitted for the use of the children and the cabin advisors. All buildings will be sided with log cabin siding which is slightly and will give an air of the great outdoors to the structures. Showers will be installed in each cabin.

The camp will operate under the name of the Deer Run Camp due to the fact that so many deer are to be sighted in the vicinity and that Deer Run passes through the property. Boys and girls will each have a place in the camp and the cabins will be so arranged that the administration building will divide them into two groups, one for boys and one for girls. Tennis courts, baseball, volleyball and other out of doors sport fields will be arranged as well as rest-rooms where handcraft, dancing, etc., can be taught to the youngsters.

Sidney Alexander is a well known New York attorney and Mrs. Alexander has had wide experience in conduct of boys and girls camps and has been camp counselor at several better known camp resorts for children. They will cater to more exclusive youngsters from New York and its environs. The location of the camp in this beautiful spot of Pennsylvania will undoubtedly attract attention to this section and ultimately lead to much development in the Allegheny National Forest. STERN NOTE DISPATCHED TO MOSCOW

CAUSES UNEASINESS

BULLETIN
London, March 13—(P)—A foreign office spokesman said today the British government had received reports of "considerable" Russian troop movements toward the Iranian capital of Tehran and as a result the gravity of a tense situation had been increased.

The spokesman said, however, that Britain's major consideration, still was the continued presence of Red Army troops in Iran, in what he called a "breach" of the Anglo-Soviet-Iranian treaty of 1942. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the house of commons he would prefer not to make a statement on the situation at this time.

By JOSEPH GOODWIN
Tehran, Iran, Mar. 13—(P)—Russian combat troops in full campaign kit were declared by British and other official sources today to have closed within 20 miles of this capital and to moving southwards, across northern Iran close to the borders of Turkey and oil-rich Iraq.

The reports caused Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to announce in Washington last night the dispatch of another note to Moscow demanding an explanation.

This correspondent flew over Karaj, 20 miles from Tehran, and counted 14 Sherman tanks, a score of other vehicles and saw half a dozen Red fighter planes at Karaj to the north.

Premier Qavam as Saltaneh, just returned from inconclusive negotiation in Moscow over the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran, declared today that no agreements were reached.

Reports reaching this troubled capital told of Russian combat troops entering the towns of Mianeh, Maragheh and Miyan-dabad close to the southern end of Lake Urmia near the Turkish and Iraq borders.

Russian troops were obligated by international agreement to have withdrawn by March 2. Instead, there were reports of large (Turn to Page Eleven)

Suggestion for Cops Found In "Gripe Box"

Kansas City, March 13—(P)—Henry W. Johnson, police superintendent of traffic and safety, installed a "gripe box" where 187 speeders in a night police court session could submit written suggestions to aid law enforcement.

Only one suggestion from the offenders was turned in. A feminine complaint, it read: "Get some better looking patrolmen. If one of them would smile it would crack his face."

LETTERS EXCHANGED

Washington, March 13—(P)—President Truman today withdrew the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, to be undersecretary of the navy.

The president acted at Pauley's request. He said Pauley's defense of his "good name" has been "valiant and conclusive."

In a letter Mr. Truman told Pauley that he "met the challenge" of his nomination "with facts" and added:

"You answered prejudice with a complete and forthright resume of your career and with an amazing patience under continued misrepresentation."

The first announcement of the withdrawal came from Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee after a 30-minute closed session of the group.

At the same time, Walsh handed reporters a statement declaring that the committee "commends" Pauley "for his patriotic action in requesting the president to withdraw his nomination."

The action wound up six weeks of controversy which boiled up at one point in the explosive resignation of Harold L. Ickes as secretary of interior. Ickes had criticized the nomination.

The White House made public an exchange of letters between the president and Pauley shortly after the note of withdrawal was sent to Leslie B. Rife, secretary of the senate.

After expressing his "full confidence" in Pauley, the president wrote, "I shall reluctantly withdraw your nomination."

"But I shall do so not without ironical reflections," the president added. "Your honor, integrity, fidelity to duty and capacity for public service have been completely established."

U. N. O. Power Is Facing A Critical Test

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Writer

Washington, March 13—(P)—Reports of large Red army reinforcements moving into Iran put a new strain on Russian-American relations today and threatened a critical test of UNO's powers to preserve peace.

The reports have yet to be formally confirmed or officially denied, but this government has sent a note to Moscow asking what the Russians are up to and why.

Also the reports have sufficient weight to have prompted an official state department announcement that they had been received.

Officials here are frankly puzzled as to the Russian objective in sending more troops into a country from which it was supposed by international agreement to have withdrawn all its forces by March 2.

Speculation on what the Russians may be up to covers three possibilities. Diplomats believe (1) they may be trying to force a pro-Soviet government on Iran, or (2) (Turn to Page Eleven)

Capitol Hill Is Uneasy Over World Outlook

Washington, March 13—(P)—Capitol Hill reacted to the uneasy international situation by calling today for a reassessment of the nation's postwar military needs.

The house military committee summoned Secretary of State Byrnes, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and General Eisenhower to a closed session for "plain talking on the world situation" as connected with the country's defense requirements.

Members said they wanted information on such matters as: Universal military training legislation advocated by President Truman.

Extension of the draft law which expires May 15.

Stockpiling of materials vitally needed in time of war.

Increases in pay of all army and navy personnel in an effort to spur enlistments.

Congressional concern over current national security also was reflected in the decision of a senate committee to give the armed forces virtual control of atomic energy development where it might concern national defense.

The house military committee session evidently held much significance. This group has yet to vote on proposals to extend the draft law, which expires May 15, and to set up a system of peacetime universal training. Neither proposal has aroused any enthusiasm heretofore.

China Waits Explanation Of Soviet Intent In Manchuria

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Mar. 13—(P)—Russia has not yet informed China when the withdrawal of Soviet forces from Manchuria will be completed. Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Liu Chieh said today.

He told a press conference the Chinese government had received no information that the Soviet evacuation of Mukden denoted the start of a general withdrawal from Manchuria.

Chinese dispatches reported government troops were streaming into Mukden and said the Russians had withdrawn from points east of the railroad town of Tieling, about 50 miles north.

These dispatches gave the impression that part of Mukden was in Communist hands but chronicled no large-scale fighting. Ten government policemen were reported killed and more than 70 others taken prisoner in a clash with the Communists in the northern suburbs.

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis, from Northeast China command headquarters at Chinchow, 150 miles west of Mukden reported the Russian withdrawal from Mukden was (Turn to Page Eleven)

Warm Days To Stay Until Next Sunday

Looks as if that new weatherman down in Pittsburgh is putting out a better brand of weather than did his predecessor, as from all indications spring is either here or just around the corner. The weather sharps say the warm weather is to stay for a while and old Dame Nature is doing her best with budding shrubs, blooming crocuses and tulips about the town. Spring birds are also plentiful about the area and many have been noted. Robins are chirping from tree tops and all nature is taking on a spring-like air.

Light rains are promised for tomorrow, with continued mild temperature, and the extended forecast from March 12 to March 17 is as follows:

Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia—Showers, warm and windy Wednesday, followed by generally fair and somewhat colder Thursday, but warmer Friday; showers early Saturday, followed by fair and colder late Saturday and on Sunday; temperatures averaging five to 10 degrees above normal and precipitation one-third to two-thirds of an inch.

Lions Enjoy Program On Flood Control

On Tuesday, J. H. Anderson, spoke to the Lions Club on Flood Control. Mr. Anderson is Project Engineer for the U. S. Army Engineering Office in Pittsburgh. The talk covered the different phases of the program such as dams, reservoirs, flood walls, etc. Following a brief but comprehensive outline of the subject Mr. Anderson explained the various details of the program. He showed a photograph of the various dams while Charles S. Hagg and James Granquist showed full color motion pictures which portrayed the Flood Control Program.

The pictures showed the Tygart River, Crooked Creek, Tionesta Creek, Mahoning River, and Loyalhanna River Dams which are about Pittsburgh and which were built in order to prevent floods similar to that of the spring of 1936.

Other views shown were of the Youghioghan River and Mosquito Creek Dams, as well as the Berlin, Ohio Reservoir, Johnstown Channel Improvement, and the Wellsville Flood Wall. Following these were pictures of river navigation. They showed river boats taking loaded barges through the Monongahela.

Warren Man Chairman Of NY-P Society

R. G. Capell, vice-president and technical director of the Floridin Company, Warren, Pa., has been elected chairman of the Pennsylvania-New York Western Border Section of the American Chemical Society.

Other new officers of the section are: Robert E. Dunham of the Sunray Electric Company, Warren, vice-chairman, and William T. Granquist of the Floridin Company, secretary-treasurer. Harold Montgomery, and Allegheny River Locks.

It is not often that one is privileged to have a film such as this and very seldom is one able to talk with the men who took the pictures and ask questions. Every one present praised both Mr. Haag and Mr. Kenna very highly for the fine quality of their work.

A. Krant of the Kendall Refining Company, Bradford, Pa., was named a member of the National Council of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Capell, who is 34 years old, was born in DeFuniak Springs, Fla. He received the degrees of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering from the Georgia School of Technology in 1935 and Master of Science in Chemical Engineering from Columbia University in 1936. He also studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Pennsylvania State College.

His special interests lie in the fields of industrial research and development, absorption, and the application of fullers earth, bauxite and synthetic adsorbents to the petroleum, natural gas and related industries.

Mr. Capell is president of the Rotary Club of Warren, superintendent of the First Methodist church school there, a professional engineer of Pennsylvania and a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, American Ceramic Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and American Gas Association.

Fine Report Is Given For Instructors

The teachers of Warren borough met in the high school auditorium Tuesday afternoon for their business meeting. Warren E. Miller, a member of the high school faculty, read a letter from Harvey Gayman, executive secretary of the N.E.A., assuring the teachers that the school commission had decided to make no changes in the teachers' tenure law.

It had been expected that the teachers would be shown a film which has been put out by the P. S. E. A., but it failed to arrive. Miss Milteen Kopp, president of the association, gave the group an interesting account of talks she had heard in a recent educational meeting in Edinboro. Part of her excellent report is as follows:

"It is more true today than ever before that civilization is a race between education and catastrophe. It is also the race between the right kind of education and the wrong kind of education. Not the atom bomb but what we will do with it is the problem. Today's problems are social problems and problems of the quality and strength of the human mind and spirit.

We underestimate the importance of good schools and good teachers. How much is the quality and strength of human mind and spirit of thirty young Americans worth? How much is it worth to produce thirty efficient young American workers capable of advancing the American standard of living? How much is it worth to keep a child out of jail, out of mental hospitals, out of accidents and in good health? This is the job of the teachers. How much is this job worth to Mr. Public Citizen?

Inflation is here now and is going to get worse before it gets better. In the meantime our schools will go without enough good teachers. Teacher College enrollment is up, but how many of these students will make lifetime teachers? How many are in teachers' college because the universities have no room? How many married teachers is the profession going to lose when soldier husbands come home? How many single girls are going to marry and leave the profession now that the war is over? How many teachers must devote a lot of time and energy to a part time job instead of to professional improvement? Education is running a race with catastrophe and a lot of people don't seem to care.

SAN CARLO OPERA CO. COMING TO BRADFORD
Hayes Garbarino, manager of the Bradford Playhouse Inc., announces that the New Bradford Theatre will be converted into an opera house on Thursday night, March 21, when the San Carlo Opera Company on a one day stop-over between Pittsburgh and Buffalo will present Bizet's "Carmen" with a notable cast. The story is founded on the novel by Prosper Merimee and tells of Carmen, a beautiful and reckless Spanish gypsy cigarette-factory worker who lures brigadier Don Jose from his home and duty to join a band of gypsy smugglers. Fickle and wayward, she plays fast and loose with the hearts of men. Soon she is fascinated by the handsome bullfighter Escamillo. Carmen refuses fidelity demanded by Jose who draws hits stiletto as Escamillo emerges from the arena victorious. Carmen is fatally stabbed.

Famous arias familiar to everyone are: "Habanera" sung by Carmen, in the first act, which is followed by the equally popular number "Seguidilla." Escamillo's great baritone aria the "Toreador Song" is heard in act two which is filled with gorgeous numbers such as the Quintet which is full of spontaneous merriment. A high point of the opera is the famous tenor aria, the "Flower Song" which is one of the most thrilling songs in any opera. There is an intensely interesting trip in the third act called the Card trio in which Carmen's fatalistic soliloquy is heard. In this act, too, is the lovely soprano aria by Micaela. In the fourth and last act there is a dramatic duet by Escamillo and Carmen.

The operatic siren Coe Glade, met famous of Carmines, will sing the title role; Mina Cravi of beautiful voice the Micaela; Ernie Lawrence the tenor role of Don Jose, Stephen Ballarini the baritone role of Escamillo and William Wilderman the basso part of Captain Zuniga. Victor Trucco, for 11 years with the Metropolitan Opera Company, will conduct.

Grand Valley Post Office Is Goal of Thief

State police and Deputy Sheriff Sanford Secor responded to a call received from Grand Valley this morning in which it was reported that an attempt had been made to burglarize the Grand Valley post-office once again. This is the second break-in attempt that has been made within a few months. The last attempt resulted in the theft of some coins and stamps from a drawer but the loss was small.

Just what took place last night was not known to the officers when they left Warren this morning for the scene. Whether or not the thieves had gained admittance to the office or had succeeded in getting into the safe was not given in the report made.

Robert Pratt Facing Counts Result of Fight

Robert Pratt, of Sugar Grove was given a hearing this morning on an assault and battery charge preferred by Robert W. Morley, also of Sugar Grove and Jamestown. It is alleged that Pratt, whose first wife is now wedded to Morley, got into an altercation over the son of Pratt and that Pratt was attempting to get the boy into his car at Sugar Grove. Morley interfered and an altercation resulted. Neither of the battlers bore any marks. Justice of the Peace Greenlund set Saturday as a date for the hearing and Pratt is now out under $100 bail.

Pratt was arrested on Monday on a non-support charge and was lodged in jail here. He secured bail and was released for a trial before the court.

Grain Car Off Rails Tied Up Pennsy Traffic

Tuesday afternoon about 4:25 one grain filled car in an east-bound grain train over the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad left the rails about three miles west of Kane. A defect in the car caused it to leave the rails. Traffic was tied up while the tracks were cleared and repaired.

Westbound passenger Train No. 971 Tuesday evening was detoured by way of Olean from Emporium to Warren and two buses conveyed passengers and mail from Emporium to Warren. The tracks were cleared at 8:54 and Train 580, eastbound passenger, was not forced to detour.

Union Signs An Agreement With Sylvania

The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, CIO, has reached an agreement on a "down payment" wage increase with the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. It was announced today by Leo Turner, international representative of the union, who acted as chairman of the union negotiating committee.

The agreement, which has been approved by Union Locals in Sylvania plants in Huntington, West Virginia, Johnstown, Altoona, Mill Hall, Williamsport and Warren, Pennsylvania, and Salem, Massachusetts, provides for an 8c blanket increase as only a "down payment" on the $2.00 a day demand. It is understood that further negotiations for the balance will be conducted as soon as General Electric and Westinghouse have settled with the Union.

The increase, which is retroactive to January 21, 1946, was granted without any "strings" attached. One of the stumbling blocks in the negotiations in recent weeks had been the insistence of the Company that they be allowed to reduce rates when individual production decreased. They also had refused to add the 8c increase to the starting and automatic progression rates and had insisted on tying up the wage question until May 17, 1946, following this increase. The Union approved the increase only after the Company had eliminated the various "conditions" to their proposal.

In addition to the 8c general wage increase, the Company has also agreed to extend to all plants a wage payment plan that was ordered by the War Labor Board at the Altoona plant in December. This will mean additional wage increases of 1c to 5c per hour for the majority of the employees.

The local Union at the Warren plant was represented in the national negotiations with the Company by Ted Kifer.

Ready! Set! Arrange To Sew-at-Home

This year spring is really "rustling" out all over with peplums, stiff materials, swish skirts and the like, and it promises to be the most exciting we've had in years. The distinctly feminine look is in and thank heavens for that! It's the season for us to look like ladies, dress like ladies, and feel like ladies, which is a thing we couldn't do in the strictly tailored clothes we wore throughout the war years.

Fabrics are very important in the scheme of things for they complement the clothes and pick up the spirit of each fashion. Take, for instance, the black dance frock designed by Simplicity with long torso, broad shoulders that form cap sleeves, and a full, full skirt all pointed up by the black faille of which it is made. A striped taffeta, fitted waist, long sleeved, collarless jacket goes on top for less "uncovered" moods.

In suits, stiff wools are a must to give the sleek, well-fitted line to the popular basque waist suit with a full dirndl skirt. One designed by Simplicity has a tiny club collar and self buttons. Wear it over a taffeta petticoat.

For a "different" feeling, the white gabardine bolero accented with dark braid is the kind of dream outfit we all want, worn over a full, full skirt that falls into easy unpressed pleats.

A soft dress to wear under a winter coat now and to go solo later is made of a printed rayon silk with a set-in waist band and pert bows showing off the pocket and shoulders. The bows are lined in taffeta for a stiff look.

Yes, Spring is rustling so start working on those new outfits if you want to be in the swing!

PITY THE POOR SOLONS

After more than 16 years in Congress, Robert (Pensions for Congress) Ramspeck resigned because he no longer could afford to serve the people of the Fifth Georgia District.

In an article in Collier's Magazine the retired congressman still advocates the pension plan that brought him, as "Bundles for Congressmen", an assortment of crutches, old shoes, old pants and lurid insults three years ago. He thinks, however, that his original proposal was over-modest, and would also raise the active salary by 50 per cent.

Out of his $10,000 gross salary, minus income tax, a congressman must maintain two homes; travel back and forth between district and capital; entertain visiting constituents, run errands for the folks at home, carry on a large correspondence by mail, telephone and telegraph. He must be a setup for every worthy charity and many others, including the party campaign fund.

Every two years he must run for re-election in primary, election or both. Ramspeck says his biennial costs for this were between $5500 and $5000. He is from a safely Democratic district. The representative from a doubtful area spends more.

When he gets all through the average congressman has nothing left toward a nest egg for old age. He is not even a member of the Social Security old-age system. He is lucky if he does not draw a little, every two years, on whatever savings he had before election.

What can a congressman do about this situation? He can neglect his legitimate duties to get time to supplement his income with private enterprises. It is our good fortune that so few solons have permitted selfish interests to compromise them with easy money assistance, or have taken advantage of their inside positions to mix up in unethical ventures.

He can fortify his political position by becoming a handy man for constituents; ducking controversial issues so as not to make enemies; letting others do his thinking because he has no time to study public issues and no courage to face them.

He can play the game straight and, like the late Senator Norris, retire eventually to an impoverished old age. Or, like Ramspeck, he can resign, take a position in private business at salary commensurate with his ability, and give his family a break.

He ought to have a fifth option: To remain in Congress, attend to his duties intelligently and courageously, live on his salary with moderate comfort, and have some insurance for his and wife's old age.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Alexander of New York, who are locating a new boys' and girls' camp in Patchen Hollow in this county. Their project is one that will bring many visitors to this section and attention should be attracted to the beauty of the area for the location of summer cottages and camps.

Application of common sense in the distribution of building materials might go a long way to relieve the housing shortage. Lot of Warren folks would like to remodel homes to form apartments but are held up by inability to secure materials.

The Red Cross continues to do a valiant job for the service men and women, and more's the reason why it should have generous support.

Recent sales of properties in the business section seem to point out the fact that confidence in the future of Warren is at a high pitch.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By REV. G. G. BURKE
Free Methodist Church, Youngville
Text: Luke 9:51—"He steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem." Topic: The Forward Look.

Now that we have the Lenten season with us again, it should be a most happy one for us, because it affords us the privilege of beginning again. And just as the springtime of the year offers new life, new hope and new prospects to the individuals who may need them, just so does the Lenten season offer to the people of the many churches an opportunity for preparation and self-denial in preparing themselves to live more carefully for the Lord. And thus, to live that way means that all of us will have to follow in our Saviour's footsteps. Now we all know that He had a long, rough road to travel in His preparation for making the supreme sacrifice for us. But nevertheless, with His face steadfastly set toward Jerusalem, the place of His conquest, He pressed ever onward, overcoming all opposition until He fulfilled His purpose of bringing full salvation to the human race. And now for us to fulfill our mission in life we, too, like Jesus, must overcome our obstacles and steadfastly set our face toward the task we have to do of serving the Lord with all our heart. And as it always has meant sacrifice to follow Him, so it means today we must be willing to pray, fast and deny ourselves for Him. So in doing this we present our bodies a living sacrifice to Him, and His promise is that "He will never leave or forsake us."

Stamp News

GEN. WLADYSLAW ANDERS' Polish Army in Italy, a subject of international dispute at the recent United Nations meeting in London, contributes four stamps to the ever-increasing list of war-born and post-war issues now available.

The stamps apparently are for the use of the Polish troops and should be classified as military post issues. J. and H. Stelow of New York report that they were sold at above face value, with the extra funds going to the army's treasury. Because the troops are paid in Italian currency, the values of the stamps are expressed in Italian lira. Poland's highest military decoration and the notes and words from a Polish song appear on the one-lira blue value. A three-lira bright red pictures two soldiers, one dressed in the uniform of 1930 and the other in the uniform of present-day troops. An outline map of Poland appears in the background.

A five-lira purple depicts a mother and child clinging to a soldier. An insignia with the English words "War Relief Services" appears in the upper right corner. A 10-lira green shows the map of Italy with the location of Barletta-Trani, where the troops are now quartered. Indicated and with Poland's coat of arms in the lower left corner.

POLAND'S Provisional Government at Warsaw, meanwhile, has issued a three-zloty brown-violet stamp to commemorate the liberation of Lodz. The stamp pictures a monument of Tadeusz Kosciuszko, the Polish general and statesman who fought under Washington in the Revolutionary War and later for his native land against the Russians.

TESTIMONY of particular interest to stamp collectors is included in the record of hearings on the 1947 Post Office Appropriations bill made public by Congress. The testimony developed, for example, that the Philatelic Agency was then 68 days behind in filling mail orders because of lack of help.

J. F. Gartland, director of budget and administrative planning, told the committee "there is hardly any man who comes into my office on any business who does not sooner or later begin to talk" about philately. "Philatelists are never quite satisfied; they are artists, connoisseurs and collectors."

Robert E. Fellers, superintendent of the Division of Stamps, told the appropriations committee that "we estimate about 85 percent of the total sales" at the Philatelic Agency "is clear profit." Fellers also estimated there are "anywhere from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 stamp collectors in the United States and said the department knows "that there are practically 400 or 500 newspapers that carry a weekly stamp column."

Fellers testified the department receives "about 400 different requests yearly for commemorative stamps, and we are able to issue only about eight or 10." When he told the committee that other smaller nations frequently issue a "special series of stamps" to pay for "eight or 10 airplanes" and "sell some of these stamps to the people of the United States," Rep. Taber (R-NY) wanted to know if there was any import duty on such foreign stamps. Told there was not, Taber commented: "We are missing a bet there."

Estimates presented to the committee of stamps needed for 1946 and 1947 showed that while an estimated $97,205.72 was spent for commemoratives in 1944 and $51,404.80 in 1945, only $25,000 was estimated as needed for such issues this year and $50,000 in the 1947 fiscal year, beginning July 1.

NEW ZEALAND'S new peace stamps will be overprinted for use in the Cook, Niue and Samoa Islands. Advance photographs indicate a colorful set. The one shilling value picturing the National Memorial Campanile at Wellington. . . . Nicaragua plans four postage and six airmail stamps to commemorate the centennial of its capital, Managua. . . . Costa Rica will issue three stamps in May to mark the Central American Football (soccer) championships. . . . Denmark has issued four stamps to pay tribute to its war fighters, presumably members of the underground.

—George A. Scott

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Our town has a Housing Shortage

Yes, sir, there's a real housing shortage in our town, as I guess there is in yours, too.

Keefer Cole, for instance, is sharing his home with a brother-in-law from Connecticut. Six children and a dog in one family; four children and three cats in the other.

I asked Keefer how they got along together—especially the grown-ups. Didn't they get a little edgy from the noise and crowding?

Keefer looks at me with a twinkle. "Sure," he says. "And when that happens, Sara and I just pass around four sparkling glasses of good beer... and that reminds everybody that there are still a lot of friendly, gracious pleasures that can help us make the best of things."

From where I sit, it's great to be able to relax during this strain of postwar living with a beverage that's truly moderate and wholesome, truly friendly.

Milliners Show Ingenuity In Creating Hats For Spring

In the post-war world of broad-brimmed horizons, the hat has become the climax of the fashion story. For Spring 1946, American milliners have again demonstrated their ingenuity in creating hats that are both wearable and wonderful. From the small, neat "suitors" to the sweeping sunshades, these new chapeaux are all insouciant and young. Good lines, new contours and flattering colors mark these hats as post-war pace setting fashions.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic Pain Quickly

If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritic or neuritic pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply. Mix it with a quart of water, add the juice of 4 lemons. It's easy. No trouble at all and pleasant. You need only 3 tablespoons two times a day, often within 48 hours—sometimes overnight—splendid results are obtained. If the pains do not quickly leave and if you do not feel better, return the empty package and Ru-Ex will cost you nothing to try as it is sold by your druggist under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ru-Ex Compound is for sale, and recommended by Miller's Drug Store and drug stores everywhere.

ions of navy shantung straw with a plaid taffeta band. Bonnets are beautiful and varied. A smooth, untroubled brow takes the spotlight as brims lift high in front. There are sophisticated bonnets like Lilly Dache's "canote" smartly combined with a flowery fantail back; demure baby bonnets, often with taffeta streamers tied under the chin; and flattering tied or straw bonnets with simple, tailored lines.

The cloche this Spring, is softer and more feminine. Sometime the head-hugging crown is combined with a wider, rippling brim and at others, a simple mushroom brim is combined with a more detailed crown. A very wearable cloche is Florence Reichman's "birdcage" with an airy latticed crown and striped milan brim.

For Schoolgirls
With warmer weather coming, the open crown becomes increasingly important and there are many "ventilated" effects, as well, in which the crown of the hat may be latticed, pierced with portholes or fashioned of filmy mesh. The smooth-browed look is also stressed in charming open-crowned halo hats for afternoon and evening, such as Sally Victor's wonderful white horsehair-and-straw halo of stars.

Colors on the whole, are muted and soft. White is a refreshing accent for black and dark town colors, but there are occasional shocks of vivid color in the Spring picture. A notable exception to the pastel symphonies is the bold red hat, smartest when trimmed with flowers or ribbons of the identical shade of the hat itself. Yellow beige-gold tones, warm as Spring sunlight are widely used and there is a complete range of "natural" straw shades from off-white to burnt toast.

Spring hats for schoolgirls, this year, have the uncluttered lines an active little lady prefers. Yet in almost every case, there is always an exclamation point—perhaps a peaked crown, a streamer, a flower or a novel band—to take these smartly styled young chapeaux out of the strictly utilitarian class.

Warmer Weather?
The breton influence, head-fitting crowns and face-framing brims are as important to a girl's hat as they are to her mother's this Spring. Bonnets, of course, are always on hand and like the grown-ups', this year's young bonnets look smartest with a brim that lifts in front to reveal the hairline. Deeper pillboxes, an oversized version of the bellhop hat, are a favorite with Juniors and there are 1946 versions of the sissy sailor (usually with upcurving breton brims). Cloches have classic charm and saucy Scotch caps, cut away in back, are good. For the older teens, the flower halo and the flower-decked

Smoothly Styled

Pram Row's Easter parade will include such fashion-wise outfits as the Tyrolean-styled, suspender-skirted gray wool suit, left; the collarless, navy wool topper, decoratively stitched on sleeves and pockets, center, and the boy's gray tweed Eton jacket combined with colorful shirt, bow tie and flannel shorts.

Light, sunny Gold, snappy Scarlet, blues from ice to navy, Spring greens and bark browns are favored in both straw and felt hats. White is again a winner and there are all sorts of natural straw shades from creamy white to deep burnt tones. Trimmings are discreet but different ranging from perky field flowers to pearl buttons and pastel seashells. No wonder the younger set is hat-happy!

seven spades would be the accepted contract, but at duplicate it is necessary to try for the maximum. Jack further points out that after winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, most North players would run off the long spade suit and then try for the diamond break. If the diamonds do not break, they are not in a position either to take the club finesse or to establish a squeeze. The correct way to play the hand is to cash the ace, king and queen of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy on the third diamond. When that suit does not break, then the spades should be run. Declarer thus will end up in dummy with the valuable ten of hearts and ten-nine of clubs, and East cannot hold the queen and the two other clubs and the king of hearts.

Energy Wanes

By MULLEN DRUG CO.

"When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces," physical energies are apt to wane. Blustery weather may stimulate for a while, but there comes a time when you are more tired than you know and you speak of this feeling as "spring fever." To meet change with change is a law of life. Now is the time to change your habits of diet, of exercise, to readjust to the change in climate.

First, a visit to your doctor. Let him recommend what changes seem important. Let him tell you what Vitamins will restore that springing energy you seem to have lost. The conscientious pharmacist stocks the best in Vitamins and, remember, the best is what you must have for best results.

Warren's Early History Is Theme Of Business Women's March Dinner-Meet

Many interesting facts concerning the very early history of this immediate region were recounted by Speaker Merle H. Deardorff at the March meeting of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, held last evening at the YWCA activities building.

Introduced by the program chairman, Viola Lindmark, Mr. Deardorff told of French expeditions through here en route to Louisiana as early as 1680; the competition between French and English for the Indian fur trade; the more familiar de Celoron expedition here in July, 1749; the Broadhead expedition; General Irvine's surveying trips and land grant; how the town was laid out and its first lots offered for sale; Holland Land Company transactions traced through early records and account books, as well as many little-known facts and anecdotes personally turned up by the speaker through his investigations along these lines.

In the absence of the president, the meeting was conducted by Ruth Karr, vice president, who asked for reports of the secretary and treasurer, given by Mrs. Irwin Tillard for Violet Peterson and by Ethel Patchen for the YWCA.

Members were told of the nine year old Belgian boy "adopted" by the club through the Foster Parents Plan for War Children, after which Miss Karr read a letter from the lad and showed members a handmade greeting he had sent.

A welcome was extended to two members, Gladys Taylor and Margaret Snarburg, unanimously accepted at the last meeting. Announcement was made of the annual meeting next month and Calie Mead, Mrs. Tillard and Elizabeth Brasington were asked to serve as a nominating committee.

Dorothy Baker, Hazel Keller and Olive Phillips were named to audit the treasurer's books. Margaret Miller was instructed to advise members by written notice of this meeting. The program for the District One meeting at Corry on April 16 was spoken of; also an invitation from Meadville for a dinner on April 8, when the guest speaker will be Lena Madessin Phillips; the state convention at Williamsport on May 17, 18 and 19.

Members voted a $10 gift to the Red Cross; also to support the Warren Music Boosters in their plans for the Warren-Bradford concert on March 22.

The program and meeting followed dinner, served at a long table set in the St. Patrick's manner. Tall white candles were interspersed with green harps, shamrocks, high hats and claypines. Serving as the committee were Miss Lindmark, Mary Benner, Flora Blair, Edith Erickson and Mrs. Nora Eaton.

Further Aid Society Plans

Eight board members attended the meeting of Children's Aid Society Tuesday, when further plans were discussed for a public dinner to be held on May 20 at the Woman's Club. Guest speaker at that time will be Dr. E. Preston Sharp, director of the bureau of community work, state department of welfare.

There was also a report of the board meeting held by the Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh, when discussion centered about plans for welfare agencies to benefit by a national retirement fund.

Mrs. C. J. Frantz Entertains Class

Mrs. C. J. Frantz, teacher of the Bethel Bible Class of First Lutheran church, entertained members of the group at dinner at 6:15 p. m. Monday at the YWCA activities building.

The table was beautifully decorated with yellow snapdragons, daffodils, streamers of yellow ribbon and candles. There were 68 members and friends of the class in attendance.

Mrs. Frantz has been a teacher in First Lutheran Sunday school for 45 years and three women were present who were in her class in the primary department. They were Mrs. F. M. Geer, North Warren; Mrs. Clayton Tickner, Westfield, N. Y.; and Miss Irene Spade, Warren.

Honored guests were Pastor and Mrs. E. K. Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Rindard, F. E. Redding, superintendent of the Sunday school and Dr. Frantz.

Program numbers included the welcoming address by Mrs. Frantz; a poem, "Our Teacher And What She Has Done For Us," Miss Minnie Koebley; Scripture lesson, prayer and a reading, "Keeping Lent," Mrs. Lloyd Shirk.

This was followed by the regular business meeting of the class when remarks were heard from Mrs. E. K. Rogers, Mrs. H. A. Rindard, Pastor Rindard and Superintendent Redding. The meeting concluded with recital of the Lord's Prayer and the Missionary Benediction, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Frantz was presented with a gardenia corsage from her class members.

Entire Family Is Cordially Invited To Metzger-Wright Spring Opening

An event which has been attracting attention in Warren for fifty-years is that which will take place tonight, Metzger-Wright's annual spring opening, its 99th opening!

This has become so much a part of the community life of Warren that it is looked forward to as an evening when entire families, as well as groups of friends, plan to spend the evening together seeing the latest spring fashions for themselves and for their homes.

Fashions to wear have always taken the foremost place in the opening scene and it will be so this year, as well; especially the California Shop on Third Floor, which is devoted entirely to fashions and accessories from California. But this year, with new fabrics in draperies, new linens, back in more abundance than for many years, these items will also be in the picture to a larger degree than during the past war years.

Appliances, which have been missing entirely for so long, will be of special interest to all this evening. As Metzger-Wright's is the sole distributor of the Westinghouse appliances, it's refrigerator, washer, and Laundromatic will be found on the appliance floor, the fourth, as well as many others, including the Crosley refrigerator, the Stromberg-Carlson radio, the Bendix automatic home laundry, Magic Chef range, the Scott Marine radio, which was used by the navy during the past war, as well as many other famous makes in washers and other appliances.

Everyone is invited to Metzger-Wright's 99th opening, to view the fashions and to hear the Troubadours play from the time of the opening of the doors at 7:30 to their closing at 9:30.

Rasmussen - Stuve Rites Performed In North Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. Max Schwab, Warren RD 1, announce the marriage of their daughter, Margie L. Stuve, to Carl Rasmussen, of Warren. The ceremony took place at 5:15 p. m. Saturday, March 9, in Grace Lutheran church at High Point, N. C. the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Fred W. Rockett in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

The bride was lovely in a street length dress of winter white, with black and gold accessories, and a shoulder corsage of roses. Attending her as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Lee Dunham, and as bridesmaid, a cousin, Delores Smith, both of Warren.

Donald Huber, cousin of the bride, was best man for Mr. Rasmussen.

Red Cross Gift By Legion Women

Holding their regular meeting in the Legion Home last evening, members of the Auxiliary voted a gift of $15 to the Red Cross and heard a number of interesting reports.

Mrs. Claude Hover, rehabilitation chairman, spoke of the department program of Christmas activities, which remembered every hospitalized veteran in every hospital in Pennsylvania; also the Pennsylvania veterans in New York and New Jersey hospitals. The total sum expended on this project amounted to $8,354.

Plans were discussed for the Legion's anniversary party to be held on Saturday night of this week, when the auxiliary will serve a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

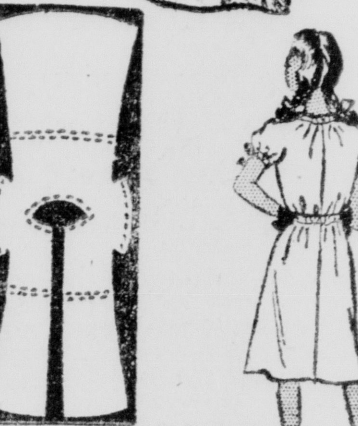

There was also discussion concerning the unit's two "adopted" girls at the Scotland School and it was voted to remember them at Easter time with a gift of clothing and money.

Concluding the evening, refreshments were served by Mrs. Merle Graham and Miss Florence Hill, the remainder of the time being spent in a social hour.

Shoulder To Wrist the New Coats Differ In All Details

Spring 1946 will register another season for the soft coat, with eves the all-important factors; the new hip yokes dominating the silhouette focuses on dropped, rounded shoulder lines, deep cut noholes, full-top sleeves and rounded hips.

The style story starts with the eves, variety in sleeve details responsible for style individuality. The newest of the sleeves p short above the wrist, and nmanding attention is the adion of a deep turnback cuff, en either braided or embroidered.

Other variations show bloused iness, leg o'mutton impressions, hered tops, tapered wrists and, not unanimously the wing-look nholes. Noteworthy is the sh-up melon sleeve, sometimes matically interpreted with colored band insets and often faille insets for a dressy black coat.

Wide Style Range

For even the most discriminating there is a wide selection in styles, ranging from the long belted dress coat to the twenty-five inch box coat in fleece. First in popularity is the short coat of various types. Whether belted, loose and flared, boxy or fitted in sleek tunic style from the briefest of lengths to three-quarters this shorter length is tops in fashion. Light and bright shades are well represented, navy and black being equally important. Corn-flower blue, jade, Nile green, gold and scarlet are some of the rainbow colors seen in many of the short boxy coats.

Smartest looking and decidedly Spring, 1946, in these toppers is the flareback with balloon sleeves, or other smart variations of the

Youngsville Church Scene of Mallory And Crosby Rites

Youngsville, Mar. 13.—At a very pretty candlelight ceremony solemnized in the United Brethren church at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, March 9, Sarah Kathryn Mallory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Max Theo Crosby, son of Alton Crosby, North Clymer, N. Y.

Rev. Eugene Donaldson, former pastor and friend of the bride, now located at Rew, performed the double ring service. He was assisted by Rev. J. L. Strong, local pastor. Wedding music was played by Treva McKinney, who was also accompanist for Mrs. James Thompson and Betty Brown, who sang "God Our Pilot Will Be" and "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us". Spring flowers were used in decorations. During the closing prayer, Miss McKinney sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of lace trimmed white net over brocade satin, the fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline. Her short veil was held by a tiara of white rosebuds and her bride's bouquet was of Easter lilies and hyacinths. Her niece as maid of honor, Betty June Mallory, Lottsville, wore a long frock big sleeve. For those who prefer the nipped waistline there is the belted short coat, fuller of skirt, softer and rounder of shoulder, very feminine and often dressy.

Very effective also is the soft great coat, tailored and belted with wide self color separate belt. Done in the new light colors it is particularly smart looking when worn over black, brown or navy. Gentle front fullness and deep back kick pleat give it a generally classic, casual look.

Beige Tones New

On the more dressy side is the long-belted or just-fitted coat that often is trimmed with braid or trapunto embroidery, tucking and even heads. The Princess lines is very interesting this season, its flared skirt, deep armhole cut and push-up bloused sleeve giving a new softness to the silhouette.

Definitely in the mood of Spring are the new light colors, a complete change from the brilliant shades that dominated the fashion picture during war years. Newest and most important are the beige tones, from pale parchment to true beige, pale grays and a new light amber shade. Grayed blues and a beautiful pale green come in for second choice. Red of the scarlet family looks like a big favorite in toppers to be worn over navy suits, and shades of blue from a bright, lively navy to royal are well represented. For the softer dressmaker type coat, perennial Spring navy as well as black will have a big place in the fashion parade.

As to fabrics, lagonal twills, fleeces, duvetones and velours are prominently represented.

Hoops, My Dear!

It looks as if Grandmother is going to have the last laugh, after all. For her ultramodern granddaughters, they of the streamlined silhouettes and stratosphere ambitions, are going back to hoopskirts of the good old-fashioned school, built on the same principle as those worn by Civil War belles. These new pictureque styles are strictly for the slim-waisted. Though curves are in style above and below the diaphragm, that midriff must be slender and fragile. So we may go one step further and return to the day of the whalebone corset—in which case Granny would be justified in letting loose a hearty guffaw.

Birdbrain indicates this is the last straw—she and her hep cats are pulverized (squeezed) by rapists that the Sloppy Joe era is over, that jeans and sloppy saddles have gone the way of sundry items that comprised the good old days. These hoop dresses, she says (and dashes off a sketch in rebuttal). Can you imagine ice-skating, motor-boating or bicycling in one of those contraptions? You'd look like something out of Currier and Ives. And, not yet out of breath, she adds: Then there are those bustle-backs which I bet would be just ducky on a school bus. Then a quick switch—which gives her her nickname—but, they do look romantic and colonial and honeysuckle and everything!

Again in the picture, the stole which gave Grandma her fashionable airs in the family album picture bows to a modern encore this spring and threatens the supremacy of the coat and jacket. Almost as enveloping as coats are the stoles, which come down to here in front and swing from the back just like any jaunty cape.

All set to provoke a "Where DID you get that hat?"—either sung or whistled—are Easter bonnets which weave their witchery with feathers, flowers, jewels, fruit, lace, straw, and shimmering new plastics.

While the Easter Parade will offer a grandstand view of coats' and suits' new curves, these gay exhibitionists will meet some stiff competition in straight lined, smooth as glass fashions which women with lissome figures will still want to wear. To keep fussiness out of the dress silhouette, hoop-la is used with admirable restraint. When full sleeves are used to whoop up curves, designers hold other lines to the straight and narrow. When jackets are added to give that city-slicker look, they can be peeled off later when the sidewalks sizzle.

Richard Crosby was his brother's best man and ushers were Harold Mallory, Lottsville, and Kenneth Mellory, Merchantville, N. J., brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Mallory wore black with touches of dark rose in her gown and hat and a gardenia corsage.

A reception for nearly 100 guests followed in the church parlors, where luncheon was served from a buffet table centered with mixed flowers and lighted by ivory candles. A three-tiered wedding cake completed the appointments.

The guest list included out of town persons from Merchantville, N. J., Pittsburgh, Ellwood City, Butler, Sandy Lake, North Clymer, Warren and Lottsville.

The bride is a graduate of Lottsville High School and Butler Memorial Hospital, and is now on the staff of the Allegheny Osteopathic Hospital in Warren. Staff members complimented her with a prenuptial at which she received many lovely gifts.

The bridegroom was graduated from Panama High School and was recently discharged from the navy, having served as chief machinist's mate on an LCI in the South Pacific.

After a short wedding trip, they will make their home at 804 Compplanter avenue, Warren.

Day of Prayer Is Observed Locally

World Day of Prayer, a program held annually on the first Friday in Lent, was observed in First Presbyterian church, with First Evangelical and United Brethren churches associating.

A very impressive and spiritual program, entitled "The Things That Make For Our Peace", was presented to a group of nearly 100 women. This program, prepared by Mabel Shaw, missionary to Central Africa, was used in 61 countries throughout the world.

Mrs. Harold C. Warren opened the meeting and told briefly something of the origin of World Day of Prayer services. In the absence of the chairman of this committee, Mrs. Watson Jamieson presided. She was assisted in the program by Mrs. Leonard E. Nason. Charles Sires took the part of the youth in the program and sang as a solo "Open My Eyes That I May See". Gerry Gibson read the children's response and sang "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us". Another beautiful solo was sung by Mrs. Carl Lindquist, with her accompaniment played by Adelaide Swanson. Mrs. Gilbert Bueckle presided at the piano during the worship service.

An offering of $45.62 was received for work in both home and foreign missions.

New Dresses for Spring Are Wearable for More Women

Here's a fashion picture of You-1946: your sleeves are still of the dolman-type or have a new 'rounded' look... the neckline of your dress may be v-shaped or wide boat-shaped... your waistline will look smaller than it has for several seasons past... and your skirt will have a new easy flare.

You'll find that rayon fabrics will be playing a big part in your new spring wardrobe... in your dressy clothes and in your sports clothes. This is because the wide range of rayons are adaptable to almost any costume style.

It's important, of course, that your new rayons be serviceable as well as flattering. You can be sure of good wear if you buy rayon fabrics that bear informative labels. A truly informative label gives you facts about the seam and fabric strength, color fastness, and the washability or dry cleanability of a rayon fabric—based on actual laboratory tests.

The leading rayon fabric for spring is the one-denier spun rayon that was introduced just a year ago; this fabric is made from the finest spun rayon yarn yet produced. It has soft, luxurious texture that is particularly adaptable to draping... and takes dyes especially well so that many lovely clear colors have been achieved.

Versatile Rayons
There are many pretty frocks for spring made of this one-denier spun rayon fabric. You'll find it used for novelty prints; it is also lovely in plain colors like the pale yellow used in an afternoon dress with shirred bodice, set-in belt, and full skirt.

The perennial favorite—printed rayon—is back again in full force this year. Designers have dreamed up a series of new "conversation" prints. There's one that was inspired by Indian sand painting. It's made up in a sophisticated two-piece style with a wide border down the side of the blouse and handsome side-drape skirt.

Then there's the "gem" print made up in ruby, emerald topaz, or amethyst colors in two styles—dressmaker suit or full skirted afternoon dress. You'll be seeing lots of black prints on pastel colors like the "jazz" print used in horizontal bands on an attractive cap sleeved dress with huge hip pockets.

Another favorite for spring fashions is back again—printed or plain rayon this wonderfully soft fabric drapes up into sophisticated daytime or evening dresses. One exciting new dress is shown in the new "greige" color which is a cross between beige and gray. It's made in a figure moulding style which features drapery from neckline to hemline.

Crisp Fabrics
Crisp fabrics like rayon taffeta or faille are also good for dressy spring clothes. Striped taffeta is seen in a number of young styles. These are not the bold roman stripes of other years—but combinations of soft muted spring colors like gray and yellow. Faille is being used for two-piece suits or dressy "short formal" in clear sharp colors like coral, emerald green and yellow.

Sport clothes are just a little bit more feminine this spring. There's a rayon gabardine pinafore in a lime color called "frozen" daquiri that the young set is wild about. Spun rayon broadcloth—printed or plain—makes up into smart classic styles that look much more than their price. Butcher-linen spun rayons are ideal for suits, slacks, culottes and many other sports outfits. Rayon shantung is again in the limelight in comfortable suits for town and country with dolman-type or perky peplums.

Convenience Keynote Of Appliances

Convenience is the keynote of the post-war electric appliance program. In addition to more completely automatic devices, the importance of planned arrangement has been recognized as essential for complete kitchen comfort.

There are three centers of activity in all kitchens: one for preservation and storage; one for preparation and cleaning and a center for cooking and serving. Proper planning of these work units provides adequate storage around each appliance thus eliminating steps. In the interests of maximum efficiency, the GE Home Bureau suggests placing the refrigerator near the service door; the range nearest the dining-room and the dishwasher-disposal unit between the two.

Following these basic rules of "Kitchen fashion," the new appliances have been tailored in streamlined manner. Equipped with a Super-Freezer for the storage of frozen foods and a cold storage compartment for the preservation of fresh meats, the new refrigerator has more shelf space than its pre-war predecessor.

Cooking electrically is cool, clean fun. An automatic oven timer will cook your meal when and as you like it. Favorful charcoal type broiling is yours for the twist of a dial. And kitchen cleanliness is assured by a special oven vent which also maintains the proper humidity for best baking results.

"Dishes" and "Garbage" cease to be distasteful chores with an electric sink. Waste foods literally disappear down the drain in safe, and sanitary fashion and the dinner dishes are quickly, automatically, pre-rinsed, washed, double-rinsed and dried while you enjoy a movie!

"Baby" of the major appliances is the new home freezer, designed for the steadily growing number of home-makers who want to freeze their garden produce or use large quantities of commercially frozen foods.

Contrived for constant kitchen comfort, the host of smaller electrical devices such as toasters, mixers, roasters, coffee-makers and grills, are boon companions of the busy housewife. Top honors go to the new, completely automatic coffee maker. After measuring the coffee and water, the push of a button causes the entire operation to follow, automatically. And when the steaming amber liquid is ready, the stove switches to low heat, keeping it piping hot until serving time.

For further breakfasting delight, the automatic toaster browns bread to your taste, then pops it up or keeps it warm in the wells, as one prefers.

Continued Growth of State Guard Is Revealed In Report

Wayne, March 5—The Pennsylvania Guard attained a growth of 243 officers and men to its strength during 1945-6, it was revealed today in a letter of congratulation to the officers and men of the Pennsylvania Guard from Major General Manton S. Eddy, Commanding General, Third Service Command, United States Army. Drill attendance increased from 77.4% to 79.1% during the same period.

The communication, which was addressed to the Commanding General of the Guard, Major General Milton G. Baker, called this growth in numbers and efficiency, despite the decreased incentives presented by the ending of the war, a splendid tribute to the patriotism and loyalty of the volunteer organization. General Eddy also expressed his confidence that the Guard's encampment at Indian-town Gap from June 22 to July 6 would be an outstanding success.

That Company I will attend the encampment at full strength of 3 officers and 48 enlisted men was announced by Captain James V. Sealie yesterday. Several vacancies in the ranks remain for volunteers who desire to assist in the necessary service to the state for disaster or other emergencies and to secure for themselves the benefits of military training.

Season's Final Fox Hunt Is Considered a Great Success

The Field and Stream Club closed this season's Fox Hunts Sunday in the Hatch Run Section. About fifty men hunted three areas and while no foxes were driven out on the first two drives, the big drive in the afternoon produced two foxes. Because of the small number of hunters out, the drivers were too thinly spaced and one fur and feather killer got back through the drivers and was lost. The other, a huge grey, was cagey enough to increase the membership of the Shirt Tail Club by four men within three minutes. A terrific barrage was laid down and when the smoke had cleared away, seven shots had been fired and four of the club's most ardent fox hunters had nothing to show except red faces. Albin Johnson, Harold Dobson, the Sugar Grove trapper, Joe Anderson and Warren County's ace coon hunter, Carl Bengston, were pronounced guilty of missing and with Dutch Valentine wielding the hunting knife, the shirt tails flew thick and fast.

The officers of the Field and Stream Club called a special meeting after Sunday's poor exhibition and have decided that since five foxes have been missed by no less than eight men during the winter, the club will sponsor a thorough training school on how to shoot at moving targets. The school will be started before the small game season next fall in order that members may get some value for their two dollar license fee.

Regardless of the number of foxes killed, the outings have been very enjoyable get togethers; the thirty or forty bushels of corn that has been distributed has undoubtedly brought a lot of game through the winter in better condition than they would have been otherwise.

The Fox Hole Inn is always a favorite spot where it is possible to meet a lot of new men and really swap stories and anyone who hasn't tasted one of Frank Reese's Charcoal Cooked Hamburgers have really missed something. Reese is toying with the idea of serving pancakes and sausage next year and experimented on Don Finney and Howie Lauffenburger last Sunday. Close check of the physical condition of these two men during this week will determine Reese's plans for the future.

Bible Story Hour Planned At Y. M. C. A.

Tomorrow at four p. m. the first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Boys Bible Story Hour will be held on the second floor of the "Y" building, featuring the story of "The Child of Bethlehem."

This Lenten series of Bible stories will be illustrated by the finest sound motion pictures available; the Cathedral films. All who have seen any of these motion pictures will witness to their excellence. Tomorrow's film title is the same as the theme for the hour, as given above.

The program is in charge of General Secretary Ralph Wagner, assisted by William Blair, David Leidig and Richard Kerr. The latter will be accompanist for the song service, and have charge of any musical features. Blair and Leidig will serve as coaches of two teams to be organized and will assist in the musical program.

All boys interested in joining in this interesting and timely series of meetings are invited to do so. The Hour will be conducted each Thursday to and including April 11, and the closing meeting will be in the form of a special Good Friday service on April 19 at 10 a. m. Parents are urged by the "Y" to remind their boys of the Story Hour and to urge their attendance.

DARK POWER

BY ELISABETH HOLDING

Chapter 3
Di was forced to admit that the situation was uncomfortable. She could not go out anywhere to telephone because she hadn't a penny.

"Well, I can write!" she thought. "There's no hurry."

And she also made up her mind that she must begin being Aunt Emma's secretary at once, so that she could earn something.

"May I help you this afternoon, Aunt Emma?" she asked.

"Well, see..." said Aunt Emma, with an enigmatic smile.

They went up the stairs together, along the corridor, to the room at the end.

The room looked pleasantly business-like, with a large flat-topped desk, very neat, and a typewriter on a table. Aunt Emma placed a chair before the desk for Di, and seated herself behind the desk, facing her.

"Well," she said, "what do you know about cretinism?"

"Not—very much," she answered.

"How much? What would be your definition of cretinism?"

Di thought very hard.

"Well," she said, "I think—it has something to do with the excavations they're making in the island of Crete."

"Good—God!" said Aunt Emma. "A revelation of character. You're one of those persons who can't say 'I don't know'." Cretinism is a form of idiocy."

Di grew red.

"I dare say I'm an idiot myself," she said, "but I hope I can be a little useful to you. I can type."

"Are you able to read a book which is not fiction?"

"Yes," said Di.

"Then take this," said Aunt Emma. "Kindly read the first chapter and then give me a terse résumé."

Di took the big volume that was pushed across the desk to her.

Some Observation Upon the Natural Limitation of National Cultures, by Rufus Leonard.

She turned to the first page and began to read. But it was like a nightmare; she had to read sentences over and over, to understand them, and even then, the ideas were hazy to her. And all the time she was aware of Aunt Emma steadily regarding her. Di essayed an uncertain smile.

"I'm awfully sorry," she said. "I hoped—"

"You can help me," said Aunt Emma. "You say you can type. I'll give you some work at once."

"Thank you," said Di.

"I shall be glad to have you here," Aunt Emma proceeded.

"Your father and I were never in harmony, but your mother was very agreeable. You're very like her."

Di turned her head away quickly. It was almost intolerable to her to hear that name mentioned. All through her lonely and troubled life she had held a secret heart's secret the tenderest image of that mother she could not remember.

"Now, my dear! Here is a little article of mine which I'd like you to type. 'Basic fallacies of the Montessori Method.'"

With her hand on the door knob, she looked back at Di.

"Knock on the door if you want to leave the room," she said. "I shall be conducting experiments in the corridor, and a sudden interruption would be very disagreeable."

Di finished a page quickly. Then, as she was putting in a new sheet, she heard footsteps outside the door, shuffling up and down the corridor.

"It's those children!" she thought, and the room grew stuffy to her; it was like a prison. She got up in haste, and opened the window, leaned out breathing with relief the cool Spring air. Then, beneath her she heard a voice.

She leaned further out. The voice, which was Uncle Peter's, came from the room inside.

"Hello!" he cried.

"But he's telephoning!" she thought. "Then the telephone can't be out of order—"

"Hello!" he said again. "Miles! Your aunt wants you to come out at once. What! I don't care... No, I haven't a cent. Oh, pawn your watch—do anything you want, but come out here at once, d'you understand?"

Di drew back into the room.

"That's an ideal!" she said to herself. "I'd forgotten that watch."

She remembered now a wrist-watch Angelina had given her. It had needed expensive repairs and Di had put it away until Uncle Peter's words reminded her that it might at least provide railway fare.

"And if I just had the money to go," she thought, "if I felt that I could go, then I shouldn't mind staying. It's simply this feeling that I can't get away..."

Very well; but how to convert the watch into money?

With a sudden inspiration, she began to write a letter.

"Dear Mrs. Frick:

"Here I am, safe and sound. The address is... Here she left a blank to fill in later.

"You were so friendly this morning that I feel encouraged to ask you to do me a favor. Enclosed is a little watch. If you could possibly sell it for me, and send on the money, I should be very much obliged."

I have already started to work as my aunt's secretary, and I am sure that in a little while everything will be all right. But just at the moment, I am pretty hard up."

"I hope this won't bother you."

"Sincerely yours,

"DIANA LEONARD"

Then she put the letter inside her blouse, and set to work upon her aunt's manuscript with energy.

It was a nice job when she had finished; she was pleased with it. The door opened and Aunt Emma entered.

"Very nice," she said. "That's very nice. Now, my dear, have you a pretty dress with you? Something light... I'm expecting your cousin for dinner."

"What cousin?" asked Di, startled by the news and by the change in her aunt's manner, so kindly and solicitous now.

"Your Uncle Miles's son... I think you'll like Miles. You'll be glad of someone your own age to talk to."

"She is nice!" thought Di. "Now if only there's a good dinner!"

Dragon Quint Tapers Off As Playoff Nears

Warren High's victory-bound Dragon cagers began tapering off their pre-playoff workouts yesterday afternoon and today were scheduled for a layoff before winding up their drills tomorrow prior to departing Friday morning for Farrell.

Joe Massa kept his charges in fine shape by sending them through very stiff workouts, and tomorrow he plans only a light drill loaded with shooting practice in order to keep the "Big Five" primed for their Friday battle with the Sharpsville Blue Devils for the District Ten championship and the right to enter the PIAA quarter finals.

The entire squad is in top condition, big Jack Eaton, the towering center, regaining true form after his recent sickness, and Gail Nelson, the freshman standout, having no trouble, whatsoever, in finding the nets. The remainder of the starting five, Al Babcock, Ray Reed, and Dick Harris, were also able to hit with plenty of accuracy.

Mentor Massa worked extensively yesterday on offense against both man-for-man and zone defenses. Not knowing just what Red Johnston will spring on the locals Friday, Massa wanted to make sure his boys would be prepared for anything they meet.

Tickets for Friday's game are on sale at the high school, and persons planning to attend the Friday playoff are asked to purchase their pasteboards soon.

SPORTS ACROSS PENNSYLVANIA

By Tom Shriver

Harrisburg, March 13.—(AP)—The rapidly waning basketball season has been marked by the shattering of many long streaks and the continuation of Allentown's victory span over a two-year period. The Canaries are trying to surpass the 46-game streak set by Hazleton's 1929 championship quintet. The streak extended into the 1930 season. Coach Crum's quintet needs five more wins to tie the record and gain its second straight state title.

Swoyersville was one of the victims of this year's series of upsets. Warrior Run defeated Swoyersville to take the North Lehigh title.

Johnstown ran up 31 victories in tri-county league ranks before dropping a verdict. During the streak the Trojans won three straight league crowns. Indiana broke the string by joining Johnstown in the last game of the regular season.

Milton boasted a 20-game winning streak before it ran into Williamsport in a playoff for the District Four title. Bradford took the District Nine crown for five straight years before bowing to Kane in this year's semi-final. Outside of Allentown's long string the only unbeaten contenders for Class A honors are Homestead with 25 straight in District Seven, and Altoona with 17 in District Six.

All-State Candidates
Most of the boys who are being recommended for places on this year's all-state scholastic team are centers. The list includes Jack Eaton, sparking Warren to a possible District Ten title. Another western contender is Andy Butenko, of Sharon, who is keeping his team in the thick of the fight for District Seven laurels.

In the east, Bill Wanish, selected on last year's team for Allentown, is still hitting the cords with needed field goals. Jackson, a teammate, is apparently headed for a forward spot on the recommendation of nearly every coach who has watched him perform. And the rest of the Allentown boys are all worthy of consideration.

Lancaster's hopes of all-state recognition rest on Bernie Adams at center, and a lad named Klivansky at forward.

From the Philadelphia area Herb Good sends word that Stu Adams of Radnor must be given consideration. He can play at center or forward, and is equally effective when it comes to baffling the opposition. He helped keep Radnor in the race for this year's District One crown.
